Rather than limit his practice to dogs and cats, Dr. Joel Schiff (above) cares for a variety of creatures including birds, small mammals and lizards. ## Variety is spice of life for local pet doctor

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

An appointment with a ferret or a hamster is not an uncommon event on a typical day in the life of Joel Schiff.

The Romulus veterinarian has not limited his practice to the traditional house pet. Schiff provides care for a variety of animals, many of which are wild.

"Our practice is a lot different than any other," Schiff said. "Our primary philosophy is we don't want to see you again."

In other words, he explained, clients are taught to care for pets on their own. Schiff referred to a client who owns several cats. He completed an initial examination and vaccinations of the cats. When one of the cats broke his leg, Schiff taught the owner to nurse it. Now, Schiff only stops by to monitor the cat's progress and provide the owner with antibiotics.

This method saves clients from expensive veterinary bills.

Although Schiff cares for quite an assortment of animals, he does have his limits. He will not care for horses, cattle, pigs, monkeys or raccoons.

Aside from dog and cat owners, Schiff's most frequent clients are pocket pet owners. Schiff defines pocket pets as small animals such as hamsters, gerbils, guinea pigs and rabbits. Many area residents own "rabbit trees," he said, families of 50 to 100 rabbits.

New anti-drug program slated

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Several new programs will be added to the Romulus Police Department this year.

The first program involves a new form of substance abuse education - an anti-drug mobile. Chief Fred Dansby described the program as a series of block parties.

Romulus police officers will drive through the city in a can visiting neighborhoods. Streets will be blocked off, and presentations aimed at children will be provided.

"What we want to do is get to the kids who do not have transportation to the regular recreation programs," Dansby said. "If they can't come to us, we'll come to them."

Children will be warned to avoid strangers, especially strangers offering gifts. They will also learn about saying "no" to drugs.

Specifications of the program are still being considered, Dansby said.

Also coming up is an expansion of the existing cadet program. Currently, the cadet program allows young adults, 18- to 23-year-olds, to sample police work as they complete their formal education in law enforcement.

The department will help pay for the cadet's education, while cadets work as dispatcher, and message carriers for the department.

This year, police officials hope to expand these responsibilities by having cadets patrol Romulus subdivisions on foot.

"They'll be getting to know people and letting people get to know them," Dansby said.

Although only one cadet is employed at the police station now, police officials intend to hire three more cadets by July 3. An additional cadet may be hired after that date.

Cadets will also help with the anti-drug mobile.

The next new program is expected to begin this fall.

Through the junior police program, Romulus police officers will visit local kindergarten classes. The children will be given special admittance tests; every participant will pass. Then, the children will become junior police officers complete with badges.

"We will just follow them up through sixth grade," Dansby said.

Classroom projects for the junior officers will be planned with individual teachers.

"It really is a good program," Dansby added. "We're just trying to open the lines of communication...to let them know police officers do positive things."

Schools to remove hazardous asbestos

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

An asbestos management plan submitted to state officials reveals the substance is present in four Romulus school buildings.

The plan was submitted last week in compliance with the 1986 Federal Asbestos Hazard Emergency Response Act. All of the 1,643 districts in Michigan, including parochial and private schools, were required to submit a plan for removal, or control of asbestos by May 9.

Required information includes building inspection results, proof of worker training, details of maintenance programs and an explanation of the steps to be taken by the school to remove or contain asbestos in their building.

The clean-up plans will be reviewed by officials of the Michigan Department of Public Health. School districts must begin containing or removing the asbestos by July 9.

Romulus officials report asbestos ceiling tiles present in four school buildings. It was discovered in the classrooms and hallways of Merriman Elementary School, the cafeteria of Romulus Senior High School, the offices of the Romulus administrative building and the boiler room of the Beacon Day Treatment Center.

"It's not in a condition where it's dangerous," said Joel Carr, assistant superintendent for finance and operations.

New attractions will include members of the mounted division of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department. Also former prisoners of war will march and present a float.

After the parade, most tents on the festival grounds will open including tents for bingo, arts and crafts and teens.

Sanitation authority battles for ash disposal

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Members of the Central Wayne County Sanitation Authority went into executive session Monday to address pending litigation against the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Investigators of the DNR have released results of tests which indicate ashes from the incinerator operated by the authority, located at 4901 S. Inkster Road, contain an unacceptable level of hazardous waste, according to Dennis Drake, chief enforcement of the DNR waste management division.

"We have conducted these tests," Drake said, "and have found the ashes to be hazardous. We have found that the levels of lead and cadmium are above the accepted standards."

Cadmium is a metallic chemical element which occurs as a sulfide or carbonate in zinc oxide.

Drake said that his department has notified CWCSA officials of the DNR findings and are waiting for a response.

Officials of the sanitation authority were given a May 12 deadline to submit a plan for disposal of future waste from the incinerator, as well as disposal of ashes already buried in the Huron Quarry, in Wayne.

"As of Friday, we have not received any written statement of their plans," Drake said. "However, we did receive a telephone call. The caller informed us that the board would be discussing the situation sometime this week."

Monday, over the objections of authority member James Collieran, the board closed the meeting to the public and the press.

Collieran, a member of the Inkster City Council and a representative to the sanitation authority, unsuccessfully argued that members of the press should be permitted to hear the proceedings "so that they can report our side of the story."

"The DNR leaked this story to the press in an obvious move to embarrass us," Collieran said. "I believe that it is imperative that they get our side of the story, therefore, I believe they should stay."

Robert G. McLachlan, chairman of the proceedings and city clerk of Dearborn, disagreed.

"I will take the advice of (legal) counsel, and will close the proceedings," McLachlan said.

The Central Wayne County Sanitation Authority, organized in 1967, includes representatives of Dearborn Heights, Garden City, Inkster, Wayne and Westland who levy a small tax to run the incinerator. The Authority operates the incinerator, which disposes of trash from the affiliated cities and that of several federal and state agencies.

On May 3, community officials were made aware of the impending problem with the DNR via a letter signed by Ulrich C. Bauser, executive director.

Bauser said the "environmentalists and the DNR are now looking at the incinerator ash as 'hazardous...'"

Solid waste plan nets criticism

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

Although the updated county solid waste plan addresses some of the concerns voiced by the Conference of Western Wayne, the plan does not outline methods to implement the suggestions.

Following study of the Wayne County Solid Waste Plan draft, CWW Solid Waste Coordinator Sanford Altschul reported his findings on the plan to the 17-member organization.

First, Altschul said, the CWW asked that reuse and recycling be at the top of the hierarchy of waste disposal options. Although the update preamble defines the hierarchy, Altschul said, the plan itself lends no support or planning to allow this option to be followed. In addition, no cost estimates for building and operating typical recycling, composting and incinerator facilities were included in the update, as requested by the CWW.

The CWW also asked that the county waste reduction goal also address commercial and industrial waste - the most difficult to control of the major solid waste categories. The county plan, however, does not address this except to say it is a good idea for the communities to look at the problem, Altschul said.

The coordinator noted that the CWW had asked the county to include restrictions on importation of solid wastes into local landfills. The update addresses the issue, he said, but offers no monitoring or enforcement guidelines.

Altschul also told the CWW members that the update does not give an indication of membership on the new planning committee, or explain the role of the committee.

ROMULUS NEWS DIGEST

Senior center plans are set

Several activities have been added to the list of regular events for the Romulus Senior Center.

A dinner at China Gardens restaurant, in Ann Arbor, is set for May 23. Transportation is $1.50, and participants will order and pay for their own meals.

The trip to Sauders Farm, in Ohio, along with an evening at the local dinner theatre has been rescheduled for May 22. A few seats on the senior center van remain available. The cost is $37.

In addition, sign-up sheets are available for those interested in attending the Downriver Senior Olympics scheduled for August 7, 8 and 9 in Wyandotte.

The games are designed for the abilities of the average senior citizen and are open to Romulus residents. The City of Romulus will provide t-shirts for local participants.

To obtain information about any of these events, call the senior center at 942-6852.

Historic site is recognized

Members of the Romulus Historical Society will dedicate the Romulus Memorial Cemetery as a local historic site during a ceremony at 3 p.m. Saturday.

Prior to the ceremony, social hour will be staged at the future Romulus Historical Museum at 1120 Hunt near the new post office. Free refreshments will be available.

After the dedication, a historic marker for the site will be unveiled at the Romulus Cemetery.

Golf outing benefits youths

A golf outing has been scheduled for 8 a.m. June 9 at the Shady Hollow golf course, on Wayne Road.

The event will be offered through the Mayor's Task Force on Substance Abuse. Proceeds will go toward a summer drug awareness program for youth.

Participation in the outing costs $30 and includes lunch. For additional information call 941-0666.

83-year-old dies in crash

An 83-year-old Detroit man was killed in an automobile accident on I-94, in Romulus, last week when the passenger side of his car was struck by a tractor trailer, shearing the car in half. The truck driver, a 29-year-old man from Union Lake, was not injured in the May 10 accident.

At approximately 8:59 a.m., Baltus Ortmann was entering westbound I-94 from Wickham Road. The elderly man became confused, police officials said, and maneuvered his car cross-ways against oncoming traffic as if making a left turn.

Ortmann's car, a 1983 Chrysler Cordoba, was struck by an oncoming tractor trailer. The driver was unable to stop when he saw the car blocking his lane, police officials said.

The car was sheared into two pieces when struck, police officials said, and Ortmann was thrown from the vehicle. He was dead on the scene.

The Michigan State Police investigated this case with help from Romulus police officers.

Television stolen from limousine

A total of $700 in damages was reported when a color television and antenna were stolen from a limousine parked behind a Romulus motel.

The incident reportedly occurred at the 8200 block of Merriman Monday. The rear door window to the vehicle had been smashed to obtain the six-inch color television. The trunk lock was punched to remove the antenna. Police have no leads in this case.

Puppy love has struck Romulus resident JoAnn Nault (above). She has been breeding Samoyed puppies for the three years, and has become quite addicted to her work. These Samoyeds are six weeks old. ANP photos by Werner Slocum/staff photographer

Puppy love: Raising puppies worth the effort for breeder

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

What would life be like without Samoyeds? Romulus resident JoAnn Nault can hardly imagine the concept.

White, fluffy, affectionate and quite large: Samoyed dogs make ideal pets, according to Nault. She has been a breeder for two years and is hooked.

"I was always interested in the white Samoyeds. They're so fluffy; they remind me of big bears," she said.

As a young girl, Nault loved animals but was allowed few pets. Shortly after she was married, Nault began her search for a dog. The first time she saw a Samoyed in a local pet store she fell in love.

Nault continued her search for a good breeding dog and found Smokey, a male. He cost $600. Samoyeds are rare dogs, so it took three more years before she found a mate for Smokey - Bridget.

Today, Nault owns nine Samoyeds. Smokey and Bridget are parents to a lively litter of six puppies, six weeks old. The puppies are weaned now, and are ready for new homes, Nault said. Nault also owns a second male which she plans to use for breeding purposes as well.

Now that Nault finally has the pets she always wanted, she admits breeding can be time-consuming, and difficult work.

"It keeps me quite busy," she said. "You're talking several hours a day of care."

Samoyeds must be brushed regularly. Their "room" in the family garage must be cleaned often. And, now that the puppies have been weaned Nault must monitor their eating habits.

"Gram's got to come in and take care of them," Nault joked.

In addition to time, Nault invests a considerable amount of money in the dogs. For the puppies alone, she spends $60 every two weeks for care and feeding. When the puppies are older, the cost of care increases to $80.

Nault says she plans to continue breeding Samoyeds for a long time.

"I'm pretty much hooked on these. They're good dogs, and they're good with the kids," she said.

School officials ask for appraisal of property

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus school officials will seek appraisals for four vacant buildings owned by the school district.

"We have more buildings than we can use for K through 12," said Joel Carr, assistant superintendent for finance and operations. "Some require an awful lot of work."

The buildings, which are no longer used for classroom space, were the topic of a recent school board meeting.

"It's an open-ended question," Carr said.

Officials may sell the buildings "as-is" or opt to refurbish them. If they were improved, officials would have to decide whether to rent the buildings or use them for district programs.

Another option would be to offer use of the buildings for community programs.

"There are a lot of people out there who would like to use them," Carr said.

The four buildings in question are Beverly, Gordonier, Beacon and Hayti. Gordonier and Beverly, former elementary schools, were closed years ago, Carr said. Gordonier now houses a branch of the Michigan Paraprofessional Training Institute. A Wayne Metro Community Services office is in Beverly. School officials do not know whether the leases for these organizations will be renewed.

Beacon is now used as a treatment center for emotionally disturbed students from 24 communities. District officials decided not to host the program next year due to disputes with the county over repairs and liability.

Classes in Hayti Elementary School will come to a halt this spring as a result of declining enrollments in the district. Students currently attending Hayti will be transferred to other schools.

"The plan is to get a hold on what we have and then figure out what to do with it... We want a well-thought-out plan of action," Carr said.

Local school receives federal energy grant

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Approximately $2,200 was recently awarded to St. Aloysius school, in Romulus, in the form of a conservation project grant from the United States Department of Energy.

Three other area schools will receive grant money, St. Anthony school in Belleville, St. Alfred Parish in Taylor and St. Stephen's Parish in New Boston.

A total of $10,098 in federal funds were awarded this month under the Department of Energy Institutional Conservation Program, which provides grants to improve the energy efficiency of schools and hospitals.

The grants are to be used to measure specific costs, pay back periods and projected energy savings from the use of conservation measures. After that step, recipients can apply for funding for the actual purchase and installation of energy-saving equipment.

Qualifying for the initial grant is not difficult, according to the Rev. Walter Lezuchowski, of St. Aloysius parish.

"All you have to do is have an energy leak," he said.

Most buildings with doors and windows face that problem, Lezuchowski said.

The application process is somewhat more challenging, the pastor said. The application has been in the works for approximately six months.

Now, officials at St. Aloysius are attempting to put together a plan of action for utilizing the grant money.

"$2,200 doesn't go very far, but at least it's a start," Lezuchowski said.

Also treated by Schiff are birds, reptiles and ferrets. The latter resembles a small weasel. Owning ferrets is illegal, he said. Treating them, however, is permitted.

"We're quite advanced with the ferrets," Schiff said.

He has even experimented with chemotherapy on the creatures.

As far as birds are concerned, Schiff has treated everything from pet parrots to emus and rheas. Emus and rheas resemble ostriches.

Schiff is often directed to ill or injured wild animals through a referral system. Several people in the area have licenses to handle wild animals. If they discover one that needs medical care, they contact Schiff.

"We take care of as many wild animals as we can," he said.

With the help of the "wild-life people" upon whom he depends for referrals, Schiff has cared for and released 212 wild animals to date.

All of the animals treated by Schiff, wild or pets, are treated in his mobile clinic, a specially designed van. The van contains scales, x-ray equipment and oxygen tanks.

"Basically, this thing has everything in it a regular clinic does," he said. "We have the capacity to deal with everything from a bird that ran into your windshield to a dog that was hit by a car."

Schiff said he is quite content with his practice.

"I really am just a good ol' country doctor," he said.

Although Schiff knew he wanted to be a veterinarian since he was six years old, he tried several other careers before giving in to his impulse.

He has a degree in archaeology and he worked as a French chef for awhile.

"Eventually, I decided to take the cut in pay and become a veterinarian," he said.

Schiff worked as a veterinarian in an office for awhile, and treated friends' pets from his jeep. The private practice became so popular that he decided to develop the mobile clinic.

What does Schiff like most about his job?

"Watching the animals get better," he said.

Who dunnit?

With deadly precision, Romulus officials and residents solved a murder mystery at the Holiday Inn Friday evening. They were participants in a special play presented by the Romulus Arts Council, Deadly Room Service. Those who were not busy solving the mystery were acting in the play. Mayor Beverly McAnally (above) was one of the city officials with a role. The amateur detectives ultimately pegged the mock murder on a character portrayed by William Bedell, superintendent of schools. ANP photo by Werner Slocum/staff photographer

Safety patrollers visit Boblo park

Sixteen safety patrol members at Halecreek Elementary School will visit Boblo Island May 22.

The Halecreek youth will join representatives from 140 other Michigan schools, as part of the Automobile Association of American, Michigan Safety Patrol Recognition Day.

More than 7,000 students will invade the park that day.

Michigan AAA officials have sponsored the school safety-patrol program since 1916, providing belts, badges and training programs to the schools.

Field day is planned

Fourth-, fifth- and sixth-graders of Romulus will be testing their physical education skills May 19, as part of a district field day.

Students of Hayti, Barth, Halecreek, Cory, Merriman and Wick elementary schools will participate in track-and-field competitions throughout the day.

Students participating in the events must bring sack lunches and drinks.

Michigan Week is recognized

Several activities are planned for students of Hayti Elementary School as part of the Michigan Week celebration, May 20 to 27.

The students will be studying Michigan trivia throughout the week and will participate in various projects related to Michigan history.

May 26 has been termed "college day" at the school. The day is designed for students to show their support for Michigan colleges and universities. Students will wear college sweatshirts, t-shirts, hats and badges.

An award will be presented to the best-dressed student from each classroom. The best-dressed teacher will also receive an award.

Shamrock shakes are awarded

St. Patrick's Day is long gone, but a few students still have the taste of shamrock shakes in their mouth.

The Hayti school students were winners in the St. Patrick's Day contest for the best use of green. The winners earned green shakes.

The winners were kindergartner Russell Barnes and sixth-graders Crystal Mrowczynski and Lewis Powell.

Honor banquet date is set

The Romulus Junior High School honor banquet will be staged at 6:30 p.m. June 14.

Top students of the school will be honored.

Wrestling event is scheduled

Members of the Romulus Varsity Club will present Michigan Championship Wrestling Saturday at the high school.

Five wrestling matches will be staged, including the Midwest Heavyweight Championship bout and the battle for the tag-team match title.

Tickets range in price from $5 to $10 and may be obtained by calling 941-3414.

Doors will open at 7 p.m. The matches begin at 8 p.m.

Preschoolers to register

Applications are being accepted for the Romulus Child Development Center preschool programs. The program is available to 3- and 4-year-olds who fit within state and federal guidelines for the program.

For registration information, call 728-7815. The school is located on Beverly Road.

Students and faculty bid farewell to Hayti

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Students ranging in age from 5 to 45 filled the halls of Hayti Elementary School May 10 to honor their school, and say farewell.

The school will close its doors permanently this summer due to declining student enrollments and financial difficulties in the district.

Former students and staff members joined students now attending the school to share funny school stories and fond memories.

"My kids go here now, so I come here quite a bit," said former student Mike Finley.

Wandering through the halls

"This may have been the oldest building in Romulus, but I think we were always the youngest in spirit."

— Mike Fodor
Former principal and looking at displays of old photographs, Finley said, brought back many memories of his days at Hayti.

"I came here when they built on the new addition (1957)," he said. "The school seemed big and modern then."

Eleanor Anderson is retired now, but she taught first grade at Hayti for 15 years and third grade for one year.

"They don't realize how much they've changed," Anderson said, referring to her former students who attended the reception.

Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally spoke fondly of the school as a guest speaker at the reception. McAnally is a former Parent Teacher Association president.

"It really brings back a lot of wonderful memories to be here," she said. "The most important job I ever had was when I was president of the Hayti PTA. There was a lot of love that went into so many of the things we did."

"I had some marvelous, marvelous friends here," recalled former Hayti principal Robert McConeghy.

He served as principal from 1954 to 1960.

"Airplanes flew off in the distance every once in a while," he said.

Airplanes were a novelty then.

"I really feel this is where I became a principal," said Kent Thibodeau, McConeghy's predecessor. "The parents, teachers and kids were always very supportive."

This may have been the oldest building in Romulus, but I think we were always the youngest in spirit," former principal Mike Fodor said.

Chuck Shamie, another former principal, talked about the school name. The land upon which the school was built was donated by two local farmers, he said. Their names were Hayes and Tyler. The school was named for them.

Students of Hayti will be split up and sent to Halecreek and Cory elementary schools.

Junior high school musicians take their show on the road

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

After leaving Romulus Junior High School and traveling by bus for hours, more than 100 student band members will finally reach their destination next week - Romulus.

Romulus, New York, that is. The students will be embarking on a five-day field trip May 25. In Romulus, New York, the students will perform for area students. They will also tour a nearby historical museum.

Dick Kruse, band director for Romulus Junior High School, hopes his students will gain a sense of history on the trip.

"We're not sure why this is called Romulus, Michigan," he said.

A 19th century settler from Romulus, New York, Samuel McMath, may be responsible, Kruse said. He reportedly lived here two years before settling permanently in the Van Buren Township area.

The traveling students have a full itinerary for their five-day trip. On the first night, they room at Brock University in St. Catherine, Ontario.

Friday will be a full day for the students, beginning at 5 a.m. They are scheduled for a morning concert in Romulus, New York, followed by lunch with area students. Later that day, they will depart for Niagara Falls. Nearby attractions include a wax museum and amusement park.

Never remaining in one spot long, the students will head for Marineland the next day where they will perform in the afternoon. The final day of travel will take the students to Canada Wonderland near Toronto.

This field trip, Kruse said, serves as an incentive for his students. Last year he offered a trip to Epcot Center in Florida.

Members of the concert and symphonic bands participate and to qualify, students must exhibit good citizenship in class and show improvement in their work. Approximately 150 students qualified this year and 110 are expected to attend.

The cost of the trip, $120 per student, is low, Kruse said. He helped cut costs by handling the arrangements himself.

Two members of the symphonic band, Tracy Holtschlag and Andrea Brown, said they are excited about the trip.

"We're excited about playing for the other school in Romulus," said Holtschlag, who plays the trombone.

Kruse said he is proud of his students and feels they deserve the trip. May 6, the symphonic band received number-one ratings at the State Band Festival for the 10th consecutive year. In addition, he said, bands from Romulus Junior High School have received 14 first division ratings in the past decade. The next closest district received seven.

Students recognized

Sixty-two students of Romulus High School were recognized as students of the month for March.

The students were selected by their teachers for excelling academically as well as behaviorally.

Local sponsors provided $50 savings bonds for 40 of the honored students. The honorees also received certificates for their accomplishment.

Census makes sense for cities

Being counted in the 1990 census means dollars and sense for one's home community.

In a presentation to the Conference of Western Wayne, the regional director of the Bureau of the Census, told CWW members that the results of the census will affect two major areas — money and power.

Dwight Dean, regional census director, estimated that $150 in population-based funding will be lost annually for every individual that is not counted in the census, or a total of $1,500 during the next decade. In the event 10 people in a community are missed by the count, the loss of funds would be a significant one — $1,500 annually, and $15,000 for the 10-year period. In addition, Dean said, additional indirect funding is lost through the under-reporting of census figures.

The count will also mean power in the House of Representatives, Dean said, because the membership is based on population. Changes in the make-up of the House of Representatives are expected following the 1990 census, making an accurate tally of population extremely important — especially in districts where seats are in question and redistricting is being considered.

Census information also is used to:

- Develop social services, programs for the elderly and handicapped and establish occupational and vocational education programs;
- Analyze population growth plus social and economic trends for academic research;
- Aid business and marketing to select sites for new stores and plants, locations for marketing goods and services and to assess the adequacy of labor pools;

- Develop regional transportation systems and assess social and economic progress of population groups for national, regional and local organizations, and
- Verify age and genealogical information for individuals.

An awareness campaign is being launched by the census bureau to educate the public on the importance of the census prior to its start in March, 1990.

"Mail-out, mail-in" forms will be mailed out in mid-March. Each individual household will be asked their names, household relationship, sex, race, age, marital status and facts about their housing unit. For five out of six households, only these questions will be asked. The remainder of the households will be asked questions about education, place of birth, ancestry, fertility, veteran status, occupations and work experience in addition to the standard survey.

Dean estimated that the basic form will take 15 minutes to complete, while the longer form will take up to 45 minutes to fill out.

A follow-up is planned eight to 12 weeks after the mailed forms are sent out, Dean said. The census bureau hopes to have the local census completed by the end of June, 1990.

ADVERTISEMENT WINNERS CIRCLE

Readers want to know more about the weekly "Fame & Fortune" game show.

Q. How are contestants drawn?
 A. Each week the bureau receives approximately 40,000-45,000 TV entries. From among these, 250 are randomly drawn to be included in the drum you see on the Fame & Fortune show. At the end of each program, the six contestants for the next week's show are drawn from among those 250 entries.

Q. How are home partners selected to be paired with contestants?
 A. After the on-air drawing of six contestants for the following week's show, six more entries are drawn to become home partners. They are paired with contestants in the order drawn.

Q. Are home partners notified in advance?
 A. No, this is another surprise element of the show designed to heighten interest. Any player submitting a TV entry may hear his or her name announced as a home partner at the beginning of the show.

Q. How much do home partners win?
 A. Each week, the home partner lucky enough to be paired with the contestant winning the $50,000 top prize gets a $500 award.

Q. Are entries not drawn as contestants or home partners held for later drawings?
 A. No. After each week's drawings are completed, those entries are destroyed. A fresh batch of entries for the next show include all those received the next week.

Q. How much has been won on the "Fame & Fortune" game shows?
 A. Through the 14th show on April 29, the total value of prizes won was $1,030,231. In addition to the 14 awards of $50,000 each, prizes included 15 new automobiles, three computer packages, one stereo package, and 51 other cash awards. Home viewers won another $7,000.

Q. What else does a contestant do on the day of the show?
 A. All contestants enjoy a full day of stardom! After a get-acquainted continental breakfast at Detroit's Omni International Hotel, they are driven by VIP Limousine Service to the studios of WDIV-TV for a tour and taping of individual introductions. Then they are guests of honor at a special luncheon in The Whitney Restaurant. Returning by limo to the studio, they are briefed on all elements of the show by a Lottery representative. A professional make-up session and a chance to meet the show hosts Chuck Gaidica and Diane Sarnecky is next. Then contestants are greeted by the live audience, and pose for a souvenir photograph on the set before starting the game. After award of prizes, they return to the hotel for an overnight stay as guests of the Lottery.

For submitting the first question leading to this column, James Persons of Livonia will receive 50 "Fame & Fortune" tickets. Note: When duplicate questions are received, that with the earliest date stamp upon arrival at Lottery Central wins. In case of a tie, the winner is selected by random drawing.

If you have a question not yet covered in these monthly columns, send it to "Winners Circle," Michigan Lottery, P.O. Box 30077, Lansing, MI 48909.

Local official speaks out on county solid waste plan

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

At least one community has expressed dissatisfaction with the Wayne County Solid Waste Plan, which is being considered for adoption on May 22.

Ed Delhagen, Van Buren Township waste management director, told the Conference of Western Wayne members that "passage in the current form will not address the real problem of waste generation. It will temporarily put the waste disposal burden on the southwestern Wayne communities and ultimately spread that burden to all communities."

Delhagen encouraged the 17-member CWW to "work for a mutually acceptable plan for waste reduction." He said the plan will put all communities under duress in the upcoming years. Delhagen asked members to "express our collective dissatisfaction" of the county solid waste plan.

The township waste management director said revisions in the plan "have failed to address the inadequacies of the plan." Consequently, the problems of waste generation and facility siting will be perpetuated rather than changed, he said.

"Under the county plan, a mechanism for siting adequate landfill space has been developed. The process will, supposedly, end the disposal crisis by providing landfill capacity to the year 2000. Included in the plan is an analysis of current and projected waste generation and disposal practices in the county - strategies that will lead to a 75 percent volume reduction of residential solid waste," Delhagen said.

"While the plan appears to address the pressing need for a comprehensive solid waste management strategy, Van Buren Township officials feel differently. As one of the communities targeted to host a new landfill and to shoulder the burden for the solid waste disposal needs of the county, Van Buren's concerns have been poorly addressed at best," Delhagen said. "The issue here is not just siting landfills, but actually reducing waste. The plan calls for volume reduction, not real mass reduction. It is true that new landfills must be sited. However, without changing the pattern of waste generation, new landfills will be needed continually. Therefore, the Solid Waste Plan perpetuates the problem of waste generation and facility siting confrontations, rather than change them."

School officials rally for equitable state funding

By DANIEL CALABRESE
ANP Staff Writer

Michigan educators rallied in Lansing May 10, demanding more equitable school funding from the state.

Participants were responding to House Joint Resolution I, which proposes a one-cent increase of the state sales tax. Half of the money generated would go toward education, the other half would go toward easing property taxes.

Many educators, however, fear HJRI is not the cure to the education funding problem.

"It doesn't address at all the disparity between rich and poor districts," said Tom Wil-

The present system of funding is not constitutional. It's not fair, and you've got to do something.

— Gary Jackson
Huron superintendent

son, president of Boards United for Fair Funding.

Statewide, many educators have objected to per-pupil spending differences between districts like Monroe-Jefferson, which spends more than $8,000 per pupil annually, and Huron, which can spend only $3,600 per pupil, in spite of a millage almost twice that of Monroe-Jefferson.

School administrators also fear that money generated by proposed HJRI would be quickly eaten up by Gov. James Blanchard's beefed-up Head Start programs.

Huron superintendent Gary Jackson represents the tri-county area in the Michigan In-Formula District Caucus, which is preparing to sue the state for more equitable education funding.

Attorneys are researching the issue and preparing to file the lawsuit, which does not make specific recommendations, but demands reform.

"The present system of funding is not constitutional," Jackson said. "It's not fair, and you've got to do something."

Many in-formula school districts are in hot water as school administrators attempt to maintain balanced budgets.

The Wayne-Westland school district will adopt a balanced budget for 1989-90, but Superintendent Dennis O'Neill said if there is no move toward reform, the district will have to go to the voters for large millage increases.

Romulus superintendent William Bedell said the state should increase taxes to support education.

In recent years, Bedell said, state lawmakers have shied away from tax hikes, forcing school districts to ask reluctant voters to pass millage hikes.

"They have constantly avoided being tarred by the brush of raising taxes by taking from the kids, and making us increase (millages)," he said.

When he came to Romulus in 1957, Bedell said, 50 percent of the district funds came from the state. Today, he said, the state contributes seven percent. Despite all the attention given recently to school finances, Bedell said he does not expect the legislature, or the courts, to respond to the pleas. Lawmakers, he said, will be more concerned with getting re-elected.

Lawmakers, Bedell and Wilson agreed, are spending too much money on prisons, causing schools to go unfunded.

"We've made a real strong commitment to punishing failure," Wilson said. "Do we believe we're going to solve society's problems by locking up people who don't conform to society's expectations?"

1989 MOTHER OF THE YEAR AWARD

'M' is for the moms we love and cherish

Donna Plank

By BARBARA WILSON
ANP News Editor

"M is for the many things she gave us." Even the theme song for all mothers doesn't do justice to the women who labored through birth, taught us to tie our shoes and worried frantically when we missed curfew. It is difficult to put into words all of those things which mothers do. Their love has no bounds, and their time no limits.

Sunday was the day set aside for all good children to show their appreciation to mom. Cards, gifts and dinners-out were the order of the day, as children returned the love which they were so unselfishly given.

To honor area mothers, officials from the Associated Newspapers sponsored a Mother's Day contest. Choosing the "number one" mom was not an easy task, because everybody thinks his own mother is the best.

In countless letters received, sons and daughters espoused the reasons they think their mother is the best.

The words "patience" and "caring" were commonly found in the applications received. As were mentions of forgiveness for past wrongs.

From among the stack of letters, notes and poems, the top mom was selected, along with four runners-up. The decision was difficult - to say the least.

All mothers deserve the "Mother of the Year" title for doing their best... for caring, for teaching and for saving all of those handmade cards and gifts that meant the world to her.

To all mothers - we say thank you. Here are the moms nominated as the "best." The contest winner is profiled first. Profiles of the four runners-up follow.

Donna Plank

What makes a mother stand out as the best, as the model mom to be copied and studied? Perhaps, it is the outspoken support and the affectionate words of the children about their mother which sets her apart from the rest.

Romulus resident Donna Plank has that type of support and the devotion of her 11 grown children. Their loving words and stories of childhood at the Plank household earned Donna Plank the title of the 1989 Associated Newspapers Mother of the Year. "They help keep me young, and they are all my friends," Donna said.

At age 21, Donna began her family. She gave birth to 11 children. One died as an infant.

Later she would "adopt" a son, taking him into her home. Now, her children range in age from 20 to 33. Six live at home.

She has eight grandchildren. Robert Plank, the head of the Plank family, died two years ago of cancer.

Now 54, Donna sits at her kitchen table, her dark hair flecked with just a few spots of gray, her eyes and smile still bright.

The kitchen table has been the meeting place for the family for many years. It was the meeting place for heart-to-heart talks, punishment, joyful dinners and sad announcements.

Through it all, Donna Plank has been at the helm. With her husband at first - and, after her husband's death, on her own.

"We would have family meetings and called them round-table discussions," Plank remembered. "At the round-table discussion, the children were allowed to talk about whatever bothered them, things about each other or about me and their father. We put everything out in the open. After the meetings, the issues discussed could not be brought up again."

A strong disciplinarian, Donna was firm when it was time to punish the children. She did, however, allow them to choose their own switch for the whipping.

"It wasn't long before they figured out that the skinny sticks hurt worse," she said.

What situations merited spankings in the Plank household?

"We were never allowed to tattle on one another, unless it was over something that might have hurt another one," Valerie Haynes said. "We were taught to stand up for one another."

Valerie's mother said lying was at the top of her list of punishable acts.

"Lying leads to so many other bad things," she explained.

Each of the Plank children has pet names given to them by their mother. The pet names have remained, and Donna's children only vaguely remember the given names of their brothers and sisters.

Memories of their childhood and their mother's "parenting techniques" were awakened recently when Donna gave each of her children a box filled with all the gifts and cards that they had made for her. The assortment of clay ash trays, felt earrings and funny drawings were things only a mother could love.

And Donna loved them all.

"There were a lot of unique things, but you love it when they make it for you. I was always so proud of the gifts. The refrigerator was always plastered with things the children would bring home," she said.

Being a mother of 11 requires a great deal of patience, Donna explained. Her daughter, Valerie, added that innovation is an important quality, as well.

Donna recounted a story of how she cleaned her house from top to bottom, stripping wax from the wood floors and then rewaxing them.

"I would finish waxing the floor, and then I would turn the rugs upside down and suggest to them (the children) that they slide around on the floor for awhile," she remembered, with a smile, the picture of her children sliding around on the newly waxed floor.

"By the time they were finished, the floor was just so nice and shiny. They had buffed it for me."

Plank was a strict parent, and she sometimes utilized the military form of management. There were regular bedroom checks - clothes had to be folded neatly in the drawers, shoes had to be lined up neatly, and the bed had to be made properly. A large garden helped to feed the family, and the children were expected to help maintain it.

As the children grew, they were permitted to participate in only a few school activities. They were never given a key to the house.

"We were expected to be in the house before Mom and Dad went to bed, so we were never given a key to the house," Valerie said. "The girls were not allowed to go to the high school football games unless one of the boys went along."

While the rules may have seemed "silly" at the time, Valerie, now a mother herself, now sees the value of such order.

"I find myself doing the same things Mom and Dad did," she said.

Watching her own children have children of their own is very rewarding for Donna. She often has opinions about how the grandchildren should be nurtured, but she tries not to "butt in" too often.

"I think, now that they have their own kids, they respect us a lot more," Plank said.

Members of the Plank family remain close. The Plank children check in with their mom daily - either in person or on the telephone. They sometimes go together to dances and to dinner.

Donna is proud to say that she and her children are friends.

"There are days I like to be alone for a while and blast the stereo. But I can't imagine really being alone. I don't think I would like it," she said.

No, Donna would not change anything about her life, her parenting techniques - and especially her children.

"I don't expect them to be perfect, because I'm not perfect. I've been very fortunate. They are all high school graduates, they all have jobs, and they all support their own families. I don't think I would do anything differently."

Gwendolyn Plank summed up the feelings of all the Plank children - Earl Plank, Valerie Haynes, Carol Plank, Lawrence Plank, Donald Plank, Craig Plank, Karen Plank, Michael Plank, Patricia Plank and Marilyn Nelson - when she wrote in her nomination: "Throughout the years my mom has been my strength when I am weak, my pillow when I cry. And, when I needed answers, she shared with me her wisdom. But, most of all, my mother has been and always will be my friend. We love you."

Annie Harris

Annie Harris, of Inkster, inspires such love from her four children and is pleased to consider their friend.

"Being a good mother means being their friend and letting them know they can come to me with problems," Annie said.

Annie is the mother of two sons and two daughters. She also cares for a niece who lives with her. She has eight grandchildren.

She also takes time to care for her 89-year-old father.

Annie always tried to instill in her children the need to obey the laws of the land and to be an involved member of society.

"With the help of prayer, they turned out all right," she said.

Annie's daughter, Theresa Cofield, thinks her mom is "number one in all the land," as she wrote to nominate her mother for the newspaper contest.

Theresa Lambert

Theresa Lambert, of Wayne, watched her eight children grow before her eyes. Now, she watches with pride as each one makes it through the hurdles in life.

"You have to listen to them and give them compassion," Lambert explained.

The proud grandmother of 17, Theresa watches with interest as her children raise their children. Realizing these are much different times and that adjustments have to be made, she sometimes must only withhold her opinion.

A member of a large family herself, Theresa took lessons from her mother.

"Sometimes, you lash out them, but you have to be careful," Lambert said. "Children demand a lot of attention."

Theresa has three girls and five boys. Four are still living at home.

"I would need a notebook to tell everything my mom has done for me," Mary Lambert said. "But, the most important thing, is she was and always is there when I need her most."

Bonnie Newbill

Bonnie Newbill, of Westland, and her two grown daughters are friends. That means a great deal to this mother.

"I really enjoy them. We've had our share of problems, but we've always worked them out. I think on a scale of one to 10, they place about 9," Bonnie said.

Tolerance and patience were the qualities most needed, as Bonnie watched her daughters grow.

"Being strict was important, giving them the rules to live by," she explained.

Now, as Bonnie watches her daughters begin their adult lives, she looks on in awe.

"To see your children having children is an incredible feeling," said the grandmother of two.

The entire family gathers often for talks and for vacations, Bonnie said. Family members see each other frequently but are careful to give each other the room they need to be alone.

"I'd like to thank my mom for all the loving and caring she gives my sister and I and everyone else who touches her life," Tina Newbill said. "I've always wanted to do something really special for her, more than a hug and kiss and flowers."

Gloria Dougherty

Gloria Dougherty, of Belleville, has earned the love and respect of her children by her untiring devotion to her family and her dedication to her career.

A mother of three children, Gloria enjoys being close to her children. They are all very good friends.

"Love is number-one in being parents, then caring, then helping," Gloria said.

Being the mother of a handicapped child has presented Gloria with different challenges from most parents. But her daughter, Francie, believes her mother handles the challenge with grace and ease.

"We all work together to make it work," Gloria said.

The nomination for the Mother's Day contest was as a surprise to Gloria. Her daughter did something similar as a 10th-grader.

Francie wrote a poem about her mother which brought tears to her eyes.

While balancing family, home and job, Gloria also studies gerontology at Wayne County Community College, earning high marks.

"My mom is intelligent, understanding, loving and beautiful. She has been through a lot this year, after losing my father," Francie said. "I love her with all my heart and only wish that everyone could have as great a mother as I have."

They'll all scream for this ice cream

just desserts

sue willett

One of the best desserts in the world has to be a concoction bearing the unprepossessing name Mud Pie. The fastest and least troublesome way I know to serve it is to run to Baskin Robbins or some such store the day before guests are scheduled to come and buy one. These, however, certainly can't compete with the real thing. And the real thing takes a little time, some effort and a sincere desire to create a real taste treat.

Not to knock the professionals who create commercial versions of this treat which are pretty good, but let's face it, they aren't made with the loving and tender care which only happens when a good cook wants to show off. One of the best times I've ever found to make this for my family is for absolutely no reason. They are always surprised, delighted and there are never any leftovers.

It may sound like more trouble than a visit to the local strip mall, and it probably is, but this treat is really worth it. Don't skimp on the ingredients, however, and don't hesitate to use Oreos for the chocolate wafers. Do, however, remove the icing from the Oreos, otherwise, you'll have quite a mess on your hands. Most larger local markets carry plain chocolate wafers, although you may have to look for them. And be sure to get a good quality coffee ice cream, along with the freshest whipping cream you can find.

Another time proven tip is to freeze the beaters and the bowl before whipping the cream. It will be faster and much lighter if you do. And, when softening the chocolate between your palms, don't unwrap it. I hesitate to confess that I tried this with just the chocolate (well, I was a beginner, what did I know?) and ended up with chocolate palms and no curls for the garnish. At least I'm warning any beginners who may try this.

Mud Pie

- 4 ounces chocolate wafers cookies (no icing)
- 7 tablespoons butter
- 1 1/2 quarts coffee ice cream, softened
- 1/3 cup unsweetened cocoa powder
- 2/3 cup granulated sugar
- 1 1/3 cups heavy cream
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 2 squares (1 ounce each) semisweet chocolate

Preheat oven to 375 degrees.

In a blender container or food processor, crush the chocolate wafers to fine crumbs.

Melt 4 tablespoons of the butter in a small saucepan over low heat. Add the crumbs and mix well.

With your hands, press the crumb mixture onto the bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie plate. Bake for 10 minutes. Cool crust completely on a wire rack.

Carefully spread the ice cream onto the cooled crust. Freeze until firm, about 1 1/2 hours.

In a 2-quart saucepan over medium heat, cook and stir the cocoa, sugar, 1/3 cup of the cream and remaining 3 tablespoons butter until the mixture is boiling. Remove from the heat. Stir in the vanilla. Cool the mixture slightly. Pour the chocolate mixture over the ice cream and return the pie to the freezer. Freeze until firm, at least 1 hour.

With the palms of your hands, slightly soften the chocolate squares. Make chocolate curls by slicing in long, smooth strokes with a vegetable peeler.

When ready to serve pie, beat the remaining heavy cream in a small bowl until soft peak form. Spread the whipped cream over the pie and garnish with the chocolate curls.

Gely Napiorkowski puts an ingredient in each of her recipes that no one can quite match - a bit of herself.

Napiorkowski learned her skills from her grandmother, while growing up in Germany. Along with a talent with food, her grandmother passed along a love for cooking.

"My grandmother did everything out of her head," Napiorkowski said. Written recipes were rarely used. Napiorkowski now uses the same method, but she does enjoy collecting cookbooks. She loves experimenting and the chance to be creative.

"My release is cooking. I love to make a big mess," Napiorkowski laughed.

For her, preparing a meal or goodie for someone is a way to grant pleasure.

"That's how I was raised. It's a way of sharing, of showing you care," she said.

After 25 years of preparing the dishes passed down from her mother and grandmother, cooking has become second nature to her.

When asked what sets German cooking apart from other dishes, Napiorkowski found it difficult to explain.

"I think they're more 'stick to your ribs' foods," she said.

Most German dishes are hearty and are filling, she admitted. Recently, she has tried to find substitutions for the heavy butter and cream-sauce ingredients.

Also important to a German cook is the way food is presented. Napiorkowski loves to add extra touches - whether it is the way she arranges food on a platter or the garnishes she adds to each dish.

Although she and her husband, who is the treasurer of the city of Romulus, maintain busy schedules, family meals are important.

"I try to insist on making one meal a big deal on the weekend," she said.

In Germany, Napiorkowski said, meals are very important. Eating five meals per day was not uncommon when she was a young girl. These included an early morning breakfast, a mid-morning snack, lunch - the main meal for the day - an afternoon coffee break and a light supper. Today, with women in the workplace, that schedule becomes almost impossible, she said.

Someday, Napiorkowski said, she would love to combine her work with her favorite pastime and open a restaurant. It would resemble a konditorei, a German version of a bakery combined with a bistro. The shelves would be filled with cakes, tortes and other tempting baked goods.

But, for now, Napiorkowski enjoys preparing her recipes for friends and family members. She has shared some of her family favorites below.

Apfel streuselkuchen (Apple streusel cake)

- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons softened butter or margarine
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 2 tablespoons ground nuts
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1/4 cup granulated sugar
- 2 cups Bisquick baking mix
- 1/4 cup softened butter or margarine
- 3 cups thinly sliced pared apples

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Lightly butter or spray with Pam a 9-inch springform pan. In medium bowl, mix with fork egg, milk, vanilla and sugar. Mix well. Add Bisquick, 1/4 cup butter and blend approximately 1 minute. Spread evenly in pan. On surface, arrange apple slices, overlapping closely around outer edges first, then work toward the center. Cover with apples completely.

Top with mixture of brown sugar, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, cinnamon and ground nuts. Bake about 35 to 45 minutes until golden brown on top and apples are tender. Remove cake from oven and allow to cool for 30 minutes. Run knife along cake and pan edge to loosen side of springform pan. To serve, cut cake into slices and top with a touch of whipping cream.

Apfel pfannkuchen (Apple pancakes)

- 1 cup flour
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 2 eggs
- 1 tablespoon vanilla
- 1 cup thinly sliced pared apples

In medium bowl, blend with wire whisk flour, milk, vanilla and eggs until smooth. Add apple slices. Heat 1 tablespoon cooking oil in 8-inch skillet over medium-high flame. When oil sizzles, pour enough batter in pan to cover entire bottom. Use a fluted-edge pan, rather than a straight-edge pan. It makes it easier to flip the pancakes.

Let batter set up, prick all over with a fork. Pick up skillet and swirl around to allow of the batter to set up. Set back on flame and lift edges off pancake with a wide spatula. When the edges and bottom are a deep golden-brown, flip pancake over. Prick top with fork and allow bottom to brown. When done, slide on plate and sprinkle with combination of 1/2 cup sugar and 1 tablespoon cinnamon. Makes 4 8-inch pancakes.

Bauevnschmaus (Farmer's feast)

- 6 medium potatoes, cooked and cooled in skins
- 1 medium onion, diced

- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 3 eggs lightly beaten
- 1 cup leftover cooked ham or sausage
- Salt and pepper to taste

Peel cooked potatoes and slice into bowl. In large skillet, melt butter or margarine, add diced onion and brown lightly. Add ham or sausage and toss with onions until hot. Add sliced potatoes and toss until well-mixed. Allow potatoes to brown to a golden color and until all have a "golden touch." Pour the 3 lightly beaten eggs over the top of the potatoes. Allow the egg to start to set (will look like scrambled eggs). With large spatula, toss until egg is mixed throughout potatoes and completely set. Transfer to serving platter and serve immediately. This recipe is the traditional breakfast meal in Germany, similar to American bacon and eggs.

Mutti's kartoffelpuffen (Mom's potato pancakes)

- 2 pounds large potatoes
- 1 onion
- 2 eggs
- 1 level teaspoon salt
- Lard or shortening for frying

Peel potatoes. Finely grate onion and potatoes and mix with other ingredients. Drop by the tablespoon into hot fat in griddle. Pat down to small, thin cakes. Fry until golden brown and crisp. Flip and do same on the other side. Serve with applesauce on the side. Serves 4 to 6 people.

Blaukraut (Red cabbage)

- 1 large head of red cabbage
- 1 1/2 tablespoons lard or shortening
- 1 medium onion
- 2 whole bay leaves
- 10 cloves
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 1 to 2 large apples
- 1/2 teaspoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon cornstarch
- Salt to taste

Cut cabbage in quarters and cut out stem. Grate cabbage fairly fine. Finely dice the onion. Melt lard in a large pot and lightly brown onions. Add grated cabbage and stir until fat is absorbed. Add bay leaves, cloves, vinegar, sugar and a little water to steam. Steam, covered, for 30 minutes. Peel and core apples. Slice in 1/4-inch slices. Add apples, salt to taste and steam an additional 30 minutes. Mix cornstarch with a little cold water. If there is approximately 1 cup of water remaining in the pot, add cornstarch-water mixture and stir in. If not, add water. Remove bay leaves and serve.

TRAVEL Celebrate!: New Michigan travel theme promotes lakes

Celebrate The Great Lakes

The logo of the promotion

"Celebrate! Great Lakes" is the motto state tourism officials are trying to sell this year to the American traveler.

The campaign is expected to be the largest Michigan tourism project since, "Say Yes! Michigan."

The campaign is expected to reach the four corners of the United States, bring travelers to the five Great Lakes, according to Al Sandner, senior communications manager of the Michigan Travel Bureau.

Michigan boasts 36,000 miles of rivers and streams, 11,000 inland lakes and 40,000 square miles of Great Lakes waters — or six quadrillion gallons of water, whichever is preferred.

The campaign, sponsored in conjunction with the travel bureau and Michigan Council for the Humanities, will span two years and will include several events.

This year, the "chautauqua" will tour seven Michigan communities providing free family entertainment. Chautauqua is a term which referred to a traveling festival show during the 1890s, Sandner said.

"The events will feature storytelling, historical re-enactments, entertainment and music, lectures, museum exhibits and other events designed by the hosting communities," Sandner said.

The festival will stop at the following locations.

- June 11, Midland. Call 517-631-7557. This event will be staged in conjunction with the 17-day Matrix: Midland Festival of the Arts, Sciences and Humanities celebration.
- June 30 to July 2, Escanaba. Call 906-786-3833. The traveling festival will be staged in conjunction with the May Fest '89, which honors different ethnic groups, such as Italians, Native Americans, Finns and Swedes. Lectures, museum exhibits, ethnic foods and storytelling highlight this event.

- July 29 and 30, Ludington. Call 616-843-2001. The traveling festival will be closely linked to the historic past of Ludington. The event will go through White Pine Village and the Rose Hawley Museum. Modern technology and ecology will be discussed as well.
- Aug. 12 and 13, Sault St. Marie. Call 906-632-3301. The festival will be staged in conjunction with a celebration of historical Sault St. Marie and the 200th anniversary of the Lighthouse Establishment.

Walks through museums will be staged as well.

- Aug. 19 and 20, South Haven. Call 616-637-8078. When the festival lands here, focus will be on how the Great Lakes have affected lives of Michigan residents. The Maritime Museum will be open throughout the event and offer tours. Several historical activities are planned. Trips aboard a steam freighter and a research vessel will be highlighted.
- Aug. 25 to 27, Mackinac Island. Call 906-847-3783. History and tours will be featured during the three-day festival stay. Michigan heritage will be discussed and entertainment will be provided.

- Sept. 8 to 10, Wyandotte. Call 246-4520. The season will end closer to home with a look at the Detroit shipping industry.

In addition to the traveling festival, a weekend of free fishing has been set aside. On June 10 and 11, residents and non-residents will not need a trout/salmon license in order to fish in Michigan.

Free golf lessons and canoe lessons will also be staged at various locations throughout the state during June and July. In all, 59 golf courses are offering free lessons.

For more information about "Celebrate! Great Lakes" events, call 1-800-5432-YES.

Credit-card use is good when traveling

By THOMAS M. VARCIE
ANP Staff Writer

"Will that be cash or charge?"

The phrase is heard at virtually all checkout counters.

For many travelers the decision is a difficult one — cash or plastic.

The answer, Charge it, Shirley Tucker, of World Travel Inc., in Plymouth, said.

"I always recommend to use a credit card. Why? Because many credit cards have built-in insurance protection for you," Tucker said.

Travelers should always take a credit card with them.

"It is absolutely impossible to rent a car without a credit card. Also for making hotel reservations. To make the reservations in advance, a credit card is needed to reserve the room," Tucker said.

Credit cards are also more easily traced if stolen.

Frequent flyers and business people who travel should consider obtaining a Universal Air Travel Plan (UATP) card, Tucker said. No annual fee or finance charges are assessed with the card.

"The card can carry up to $250,000 on it and it's an excellent card to use. It can be used for family or business travel and with any airline company. I think all frequent flyers should have this," Tucker said.

Travel agency owner Bob Neugebauer, of Bob Neugebauer Travel Service, has a similar philosophy.

Credit cards, he said, are convenient if the traveler does not tend to overspend. Traveler's checks, he suggests, might be better for travelers with little willpower.

When traveling overseas, Tucker recommended paying in advance for as much as possible. Fluctuations in foreign currency exchange rates may make planning a travel budget difficult.

Wild week

Belleville clubs record 7 home runs and defeats Trenton

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Scoring a record 11 runs in the third inning and hammering a total of seven home runs, Belleville edged previously undefeated Trenton, 16-15, last week to claim a share of first place in the Wolverine 'A' Baseball Conference.

Coach John Bertz's Tigers then went on to sweep a doubleheader from Monroe while Trenton was an upset victim to take over undisputed control of the top of the standings.

However, the Tiger skipper cautioned that "leading the league has its perils."

"First, I have to say that I am very proud of these kids because they didn't quit when they were down by nine runs against Trenton," Bertz commented. "However, we are not going to celebrate, yet. We have Southgate Anderson and Wayne Memorial ahead of us, two potentially explosive clubs."

Belleville was scheduled to play Southgate Tuesday afternoon. They will meet Coach Jim Chronowski and Wayne's Zebras in Wayne on Friday.

The three victories last week lifted Belleville to a 9-1 conference and a 15-4 overall record, the best baseball record in nearly a quarter of a century. Trenton is 8-2 on the conference year as the week commences.

Trenton looked as if it would bury the Tigers in the early going. The Trojans struck for four runs in the first inning, then struck for six more in the third. That routed Belleville starter Mike Coleman, who was replaced for Anthony Martinez. Martinez eventually gave way to Jeremy Ison, who tossed the final 3 1/3 innings and collected the victory.

The Tigers exploded on Trenton starter Jeff Madden in the bottom of the third as they put a record 11 runs on the scoreboard in that inning. Madden, yanked in that inning, was returned to the mound in the sixth when the Tigers again got to him for another three runs to tie the game at 15-all.

In the seventh, Vince Sacco settled the issue in favor of the Tigers when he drilled a leadoff homer off of Madden, the Trojan ace.

In the sixth, heroics by Scott Janack enabled Belleville to tie the game. Janack blasted a two-out, two-run homer.

In the 16-hit barrage, the Tigers also had solo blasts from Phil Feist, while Kelly O'Neal stroked a three-run round-tripper; Martinez also belted one out of the park for a three-run HR and Ison helped his own cause with a three-run homer.

Down Argentina way

Belleville High is not the only local high school that has imported foreign tennis talent - Romulus also boasts one Ignacio Celorrio, who holds down the distinction of playing as the number one singles for the Eagles. Celorrio, a goodlooking senior who hails from Argentina, is competing in one of the premier tennis leagues in the state - the South Central - and has surfaced with a winning record. The SCC is dominated by Ann Arbor Pioneer and Ypsilanti, perennial state title contenders. Belleville has four students from Europe playing on varsity this season. ## Monroe ousts Tigers from first-place slot

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Unless they can get some help from the rest of the crowd, Belleville High softballers can forget about the Wolverine 'A' Conference title this year.

Monroe made sure of that last week when it swept both ends of a doubleheader from Coach Peggy Curtis' Tigers.

Belleville dropped a close 5-4 decision in the opener and lost a 10-4 verdict in the nightcap to the Trojans who are now looking down at the rest of the field from the top of the standings. The loss snapped Belleville's nine-game winning streak. They are 9-2 on the year, while Monroe leads the standings with an impeccable 11-0 mark.

"Unless we can get some help from the other teams," admits Curtis, "Monroe is well on the way to the championship. However, on a positive note, in 1985 they beat us, and we went right on to win the state championship."

Belleville also needed some late-inning heroics to slip past Trenton, 4-2, earlier in the week. That victory set up the showdown between the two undefeated clubs.

Brandi Price, who pitched a four-hitter against Trenton, was the winning pitcher, while Stephanie Chaffin was charged with the loss. Price struck out four and walked three.

The Tigers put four big runs on the scoreboard in the top of the sixth to erase a 2-0 deficit as Becki Preston ignited the rally with a single, then Price laid down a bunt on a hit-and-run play that moved Preston all the way to third. Price stole second. Curtis called for a suicide squeeze but Preston was called out at the plate. With runners on second and third Kelly Rochon singled home the Tigers first run, bringing Christy Garrett to the plate. She tripled down the right field line, scoring two more runs and Garrett eventually scored when Lisa Bishop also singled.

Rochon and Garrett each had two hits for the day.

Monroe scored early, putting two runs on the board in the first and second innings, then collecting what proved to be the winning run in the fifth in a 5-4 victory over the Tigers and pitcher Price.

Price, who boasts a 12-2 record, gave up six hits but the defense collapsed behind her. The Tigers committed four crucial errors.

Winning pitcher Dawn Terrasi managed to escape the Tigers in the seventh. After Kathy Murphy, playing with a fractured middle finger, laced a triple and scored on Rochon's sacrifice, Terrasi then gave up a single to Garrett but got Lisa Bishop to pop up for the final out. Garrett had two of the Tigers' five hits.

Huron ends win drought

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

It took a six-hit pitching performance by Ron Nowitzke and a 13-hit onslaught by New Boston Huron's battery to subdue Monroe Jefferson and give first-year baseball coach Bill Spiecker his first Huron Conference victory of the year.

Nowitzke worked 6 1/3 innings, struck out eight and walked four in posting a 6-2 victory over Jefferson. It was his first win of the current campaign and provided the Chiefs their third win in 17 starts.

"Needless to say, I am very pleased with this victory," said Spiecker, who inherited a club that won only one game a year ago. "The kids have worked hard and deserved this (win)."

Nowitzke needed some help in the seventh when he put two men aboard and, with one away, Spiecker called in reliever Mike Debozy, who got the final two putouts.

Loser Ryan Duvell gave up at least one run in all but the final inning. Huron catcher Joe McLeod sparked the 13-hit assault as he posted a perfect 4-for-4, including a triple, double and a pair of singles.

Nowitzke helped his own cause with three hits and Matt Spiecker, the coach's son, chipped in a double and single in four at-bats.

Romulus, however, cooled Huron on Tuesday as the Eagles surfaced with a 7-1 victory over the Chiefs. Sean Shelby held Huron to four hits, and missed getting the shutout in the bottom of the fourth when Emery led off with a double and eventually scored on a couple of wild pitches.

Spiecker, making his second appearance on the mound, was tagged for 12 hits, two each by Eddy Tank, Rick Evans, Chris Labiak, and Ken Blevins. Romulus also received a couple of outstanding defensive plays from Steve Honeycutt and Tank.

Vikings are on schedule

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Ten games into the 1989 softball season, rookie Inkster Coach John Carlson says he is pleased with the progress of his Vikings.

"We have only four holdovers from last year's club," said Carlson, whose Vikings have won three of their 10 games this season, "so we have been building around them. And these kids are improving with each game."

"With the exception of one or two games, we have been in almost all of them," Carlson added.

The exception was against defending Suburban Athletic Conference champ, River Rouge, which turned back the inexperienced Vikings 28-2. The Panthers are undefeated and are well on their way to a second straight SAC championship.

Carlson, who coached track and cross country in Clawson, took on the difficult assignment of rebuilding the Vikings' softball program. He believes the talent is there for a competitive team.

In Tequan Abney, Inkster has one of the finest ball players in the SAC. The Viking slugger is batting .719 on the year and has hammered six homers.

Grayam Scott

Oklahoma signs Scott

Grayam Scott, the 6-8 senior center who led the Eagles of Romulus High to a third consecutive Class A district basketball championship last season, has signed a letter of intent to attend Northeast Oklahoma Junior College in the fall.

Scott, who will receive a full-ride athletic scholarship, averaged 13.5 points and 12.2 rebounds per game during his final prep season.

Oklahoma captured the 1989 national junior college championship.

"I was really impressed with their people," said Romulus High Coach Dan Henry. "They obviously have a tremendous basketball program."

Romulus wastes Daniel's 2-hitter

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Jennifer Daniel of Romulus probably knows how Detroit Tiger ace pitcher Jack Morris feels.

Daniel fired a two-hitter against Ann Arbor Huron and lost a 1-0 decision to their South Central Conference softball rival.

Morris, who has pitched several strong games this season, has only a 2-6 won-lost record to his credit.

"The kids didn't give Daniel the hitting support she deserved last week," said Fred Coleman, Romulus athletic director who serves as an assistant softball coach. "She pitched an outstanding game."

Daniel struck out three and issued an equal number of walks in digesting the loss. Huron's Pam Cicanciola was awesome as she shut out the Eagles and missed posting a coveted no-hitter in the fourth when Laurie Berlinn sliced a single. The only other Romulus baserunner was Daniel, who walked in the second, stole second and died there.

Back-to-back singles in the bottom of the sixth opened the door for the winning run.

Romulus entered the week with a 10-12 overall record and a 2-3 SCC mark.

The Eagles split a twin bill with out-of-conference rival, New Boston Huron, last week. New Boston edged Daniel 7-6 while the Eagles came back in the second game to win a 5-2 decision and give pitcher Renee Bitner the victory.

Michele Searrow collected three hits in four trips and Amy McDonald had two for two and also walked twice for the Eagles in the opener.

Scarow and Janet DuDonis each had a pair of hits and Berlinn laced a two-run single in the nightcap.

Romulus seeking coaches

If you believe you have the coaching talent to carry on one of the finest basketball traditions in the area, Romulus High School officials would like to hear from you.

Fred Coleman, athletic director at Romulus, announced this week that he is seeking resumes from prospective basketball coaches.

Before you rush to mailbox with your resumes, remember that Romulus is the high school that produced such outstanding basketball talents as NBA pros Johnny Long, and Grant Long and U of M center, Terry Mills.

If you think you can handle the challenge, telephone 941-3414.

Vikings surprise Highland Park

By TOM MOORADIAN
 ANP Staff Writer

Coming off of a humiliating loss to natural rival Dearborn Heights Robichaud, the Vikings of Inkster High put their act together in time to surprise Highland Park.

Coach Jerome Orr's club pounded the Parkers 17-7, then edged their foes 5-4, to sweep both ends of a doubleheader last week.

The victories were the first in the Suburban Athletic baseball conference for Orr, who is in his inaugural season as the Vikings' head coach.

"After that debacle against Robichaud," Orr said, "I guess we were all kind of down. But these kids came back and showed they have a lot of class.

"We're going to make our mistakes, but that's how you learn - from your mistakes."

Joe Stokes was given the assignment of stopping the Parkers in the first game, and the Viking hurler came through with a seven-hitter. He had six strikeouts and walked three.

Stokes received ample hitting support from his teammates who piled up 15 hits including a two-run homer by Tyrone Orr in the fourth inning. Orr finished with two hits. Terry Armstrong, who drilled four singles in five trips to the plate, and Perdue, who had three hits in his five at-bats, led the Vikings. The winners also got three hits each from Kevin Garrett and Bernard Reeves.

In the nightcap, Wesley Lawrence went the distance and pitched a five-hitter, fanned 18 batters and walked two for the victory.

The Vikings staked their pitcher to two runs in the opening inning, added single tallies in the second, fifth and sixth, while Highland Park countered with single runs in the first, third, fifth and the seventh.

Armstrong had two of the Vikings' hits and Orr latched on to a run-scoring single.

Inkster has a busy week as they host Robichaud in a rematch at Inkster Park today after taking on Ecorse on Tuesday and playing Willow Run on Monday.

Belleville rallied for two runs in the last of the seventh to pull out a narrow 5-4 victory over Monroe to tighten its grip on first place. They swept the twin bill with a convincingly easy 10-4 victory over their arch-rivals in the nightcap.

Feist went the distance in the opener and chalked up his fourth personal victory in five pitching starts. He struck out six, walked two and gave up eight hits. Sean Carver was charged with the loss. He was tagged for seven hits.

In that decisive last of the seventh, with one away, Bill Bird started the rally with a single, then moved to third on O'Neal's double. Carver then intentionally walked Janack to lead the bases.

That brought Jerry Bitner to the plate and he hit a ground ball to the second baseman, whose toss to home plate was too late to nab Bird. With the score now tied, Coleman flew deep to center field, allowing O'Neal to score with the winning run.

O'Neal accounted for three of the Tigers' seven hits, getting a double and a pair of singles. Teammate Janack turned in a triple and a single.

Belleville put Monroe away with three runs in the fourth and four tallies in the fifth to give righthander Coleman an easy

10-4 win. Coleman gave up seven hits, notched three strikeouts and walked five, while the Tigers got to Monroe hurler Tom Tippering for 16 safeties, including three hits and four RBIs from Bird, Sacco also had a good day at the plate. He had three singles while Janack and Dave Fain turned in with a pair of hits.

Belleville also is tuning up for its pre-district test. On May 26, the Tigers will meet the winner of the Ann Arbor Pioneer and Howell game.

Area prep track teams run for regional, state honors Saturday

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Local and area high school track & field teams will travel their separate ways on Saturday with one thought on their minds: qualify for the state finals.

In order to do so, however, the prep athletes must finish in the top two or meet qualifying times and distances at their regional meets.

While Romulus travels to Monroe, Belleville will compete in the regional Class A regional. New Boston Huron finds itself at the strong Monroe Jefferson meet.

The state finals will be staged the first week in June.

In the meantime, Belleville bounced back from their second Wolverine 'A' Conference loss, suffered at the hands of defending champ, Wayne Memorial, to turn back Dearborn Fordson 87-41 and Southgate Anderson, 83-45.

The two victories lifted Coach Dave Medley's Tigers to a 4-2 conference record.

The Tigers claimed nine of the 16 first places against Southgate, with Darryl Dumas contributing the long jump with a league of 18 feet, 2 and the high the high jump (5'10"). Brian

It will not be an easy regional. With the two Ann Arbor schools and Ypsilanti, who are always tough, you're going to be at your best to qualify for state.

— Dave Medley
Belleville track coach

Gulliver won the discus with a toss of 44 feet.

The Tigers won three of the four relays as Medley picked Brian Hargrow, Mark Hooks, Michael Gentry and Andre Brantley for the 440. The foursome responded with a 46.6. The lineup of Brantley, Gentry, Hooks and Chandler also won the 880 with a time of 1:36.5. With Rob Priebe leading off the mile relay, and Hooks, Brantley and Gentry taking the baton from there, the Tigers won the final event in 3:41.

Belleville also put the 220 away thanks to Gentry's 24.3, and Gary Griffin crossed the finish line first for the 880 (2:11). Marty O'Sullivan and Brantley dominated the low and high hurdles, respectively. O'Sullivan was first in the lows (42.7) while Brantley's winning time for the highs was a 15.6.

Although they mustered seven of the 15 events, the Belleville girls' track team dropped a 70 1/2 to 57 1/2 decision to conference rival, Wyandotte.

The loss also dipped the Tigers' record to 3-3 on the season.

"We didn't have the depth that they (Wyandotte) did," said Laura Druker, Belleville coach. "But our times are improving, and some of the girls posted their best times."

Belleville won only one of the field events as Vetra Chandler leaped 14 feet, 1 inch for the victory. The Tigers came back and won the 440-yard relay, thanks to the efforts of Tiffany Eton, LaWanda Smith, March Griffin and Tanisha Rice, who were clocked in 54.9; they also won the mile relay with Kim Green, Laani Bates, Chandler and Valentine Stumpf who were clocked in 4:23.

Stumpf had earlier claimed the half-mile run with a 2:30 and Green was the winner in the 440, thanks to a 1:06 finish.

Huron captures downriver track invitational title

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

New Boston Huron can boast that it has the best girls' track team in the downriver area in 1989.

Coach Jim Okler and the Chiefs proved it on Saturday as they added the downriver title to their list of already impressive achievements this year.

With some of the finest teams in the state competing, Huron parlayed four first places and 84 points to claim the first-place trophy. River Rouge, a perennial Class B state power, finished second with 61, while Wyandotte, the host and a Class A entry, had 61. There were 18 other teams competing.

"I'm elated that we won this title," said Okler, whose team is undefeated in dual meet competition and is the defending conference champ. "Our kids scored in 12 of the 16 events."

The Chiefs captured gold medals in the shot put and the long jump and also won the 3,200 meter and the mile relays.

Marcy Hall had a put of 34 feet, 8 inches to come away with the gold medal in the shot put, and teammate Janet Hughes leaped 16 feet, 1 1/4 inches for her victory in the long jump.

Okler's winning 3,200 meter relay team was made up of Brandy Mink, LeDonne Glasgow, Lindsay Wendell and Tracy Nagy who were clocked in 10:11.22. The same foursome won the mile in 4:15.9.

The Chiefs will make a serious run for the Monroe Jefferson regional title on Saturday.

In the meantime, the Chiefs stretched their dual meet winning record to 7-0 (overall) and 6-0 in the league at the expense of Riverview. They took 11 first places in the 83-45 victory.

The 880-relay team of Mink, Patti Prentice, Jen Gracia and Leann Ziegler set a school record of 1:54.05 in winning the event. The same lineup had set the old mark at 1:54.8.

Gracia lowered the low hurdle record, which she owned, to 51.02. Earlier this year she ran a 51.8. However, she finished second to Riverview's Stacey KJlick in the highs, running a 16:98 as compared to KJlick's 16.9.

In the field events, Hall continued to dominate the shot put (35 feet) and Renne Syer was first in the discus with a toss of 88 feet, 8 inches. Janet Hughes emerged the winner in the long jump. She had a 15 feet, 9 inch leap.

The Chiefs' two-mile relay team of Hughes, Carsi Madej, Jenny Taklo and Janna Matsos posted the winning time of 12:16, while the mile relay team of Mink, Glasgow, Jen Taklo and Nagy covered the distance in 4:35.

Wendell won the mile (6:08) and the 2-mile (13:37) runs.

Chiefs

New Boston returned to conference play on Wednesday and dropped a pair to Carlson. Carlson collected 13 hits off of losing pitcher Debozy to bury the Chiefs 18-1 in the opener. They swept the series with an 8-3 win in the nightcap as David Delano took the loss.

Delano was tagged for five runs in the first inning and was removed in the third for reliever Spiecker who gave up three runs in the fifth. The Chiefs rallied in the bottom of the sixth and routed winning pitcher Dave Lafayette as Debozy laced a single to right, then, after one was out, McLeod latched on to a base hit, putting runners on first and third.

That brought up Emery, who grounded out to the pitcher, allowing Debozy to score. Matt Hamilton then drilled a single and moved to second when Lafayette unleashed a wild pitch. That was all for the Carlson starter. Steve Prater greeted the Carlson reliever with a two-run single before Carlson got the third and final out.

"If you eliminate that 18-1 debacle we played with Carlson in the first game of the doubleheader," Spiecker commented, "I felt we had a pretty good week. We snapped out of our hitting slump and, overall, I am pleased with the club."

Huron will return to the conference circuit tomorrow when the Chiefs travel to Flat Rock. They also played Riverview last night and tuned up for the week with a nonleague at home against Woodhaven.

Upset

ning, Monroe made a clean sweep of the Tigers with a 10-4 win in the second game. Price again was the loser, and Terrasi, the winner.

At the Bedford Invitational on Saturday, the Belleville defense continued to sputter as Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard knocked off the Tigers 4-2 and Monroe made it three straight with a 12-5 victory in the consolation round. Belleville managed to beat Morenci 13-2 in the first-round of play.

Dawn Rochawiak, a sophomore, twirled a two-hitter for the victory. Rochan checked in with three hits while Leslie and Marcy Korgal each got two.

Belleville wasted Garrett's sixth homer of the season in its 4-2 loss to Gabriel Richard.

Linda Pasek drilled a two-run homer in the third and Keshia Wilson and Leslie each had two hits in the Tigers' loss to Monroe.

Vikings

Carlson has a sister combo of Jean and Salema Braswell working on the mound and behind the plate, respectively. Jean has won all three of the Vikings' games thus far this season.

Inkster, which plays all of its games in Westwood Park, was back on the diamond Monday, playing a doubleheader with Oak Park. They also played Willow Run yesterday. Both are SAC encounters.

Earn Monthly Compounded Interest From Manufacturers Bank.

At first glance, it might seem that both dollars are worth the same amount. Much like the interest earned from two time deposits with the same rates and terms. Well, don't be fooled by appearances. Because not all banks calculate interest the same way.

While some other banks offer you simple interest on your time deposit of one year or longer, Manufacturers Bank compounds your interest monthly. So, instead of just earning interest on your deposit, you earn interest on your interest, too. Month after month.

So even though time deposit rates may look the same, you really can't
